Administrative Policy Statement prepared by CareSource and its affiliates are derived from literature based on and supported by clinical guidelines, nationally recognized utilization and technology assessment guidelines, other medical management industry standards, and published MCO clinical policy guidelines. Medically necessary services include, but are not limited to, those health care services or supplies that are proper and necessary for the diagnosis or treatment of disease, illness, or injury and without which the patient can be expected to suffer prolonged, increased or new morbidity, impairment of function, dysfunction of a body organ or part, or significant pain and discomfort. These services meet the standards of good medical practice in the local area, are the lowest cost alternative, and are not provided mainly for the convenience of the member or provider. Medically necessary services also include those services defined in any Evidence of Coverage documents, Medical Policy Statements, Provider Manuals, Member Handbooks, and/or other policies and procedures.

Administrative Policy Statements prepared by CareSource and its affiliates do not ensure an authorization or payment of services. Please refer to the plan contract (often referred to as the Evidence of Coverage) for the service(s) referenced in the Administrative Policy Statement. If there is a conflict between the Administrative Policy Statement and the plan contract (i.e., Evidence of Coverage), then the plan contract (i.e., Evidence of Coverage) will be the controlling document used to make the determination.

According to the rules of Mental Health Parity Addiction Equity Act (MHPAEA), coverage for the diagnosis and treatment of a behavioral health disorder will not be subject to any limitations that are less favorable than the limitations that apply to medical conditions as covered under this policy.

B. Background

The United States Department of Health and Human Services reports that there are 1.27 million Americans receiving medication assisted treatment (MAT) for Opioid Use Disorder (OUD). Between 2016-2018, there was a 142% increase in patients receiving MAT services at Health Resources and Service Administration (HRSA)-funded health centers. Almost 70% of the drug overdose deaths in 2019 involved an opioid.

Opioid Use Disorder treatment includes administration of Food and Drug Administration (FDA)-approved medications, also called medication assisted treatment (MAT), to target the brain and psychosocial interventions, such as counseling and behavioral therapies. People are usually more successful with recovery when both MAT and therapy are part of the treatment plan.

Methadone, a full opioid agonist, is one of the FDA-approved medications to treat Opioid Use Disorder and can only be dispensed by an opioid treatment program. This schedule II-controlled medication is a long-acting medication taken daily to reduce cravings and withdrawal symptoms, allowing the member to sustain recovery. This policy covers methadone services for Opioid Use Disorder that are provided on an outpatient basis through an opioid treatment program.
